

This my family in Nepal, and we are
So happy to take a picture.

Hi, My name is Manjika and I'm from Nepal. My Story is about living in a refugee Camp.

This is Khudunabari
Camp in Nepal.

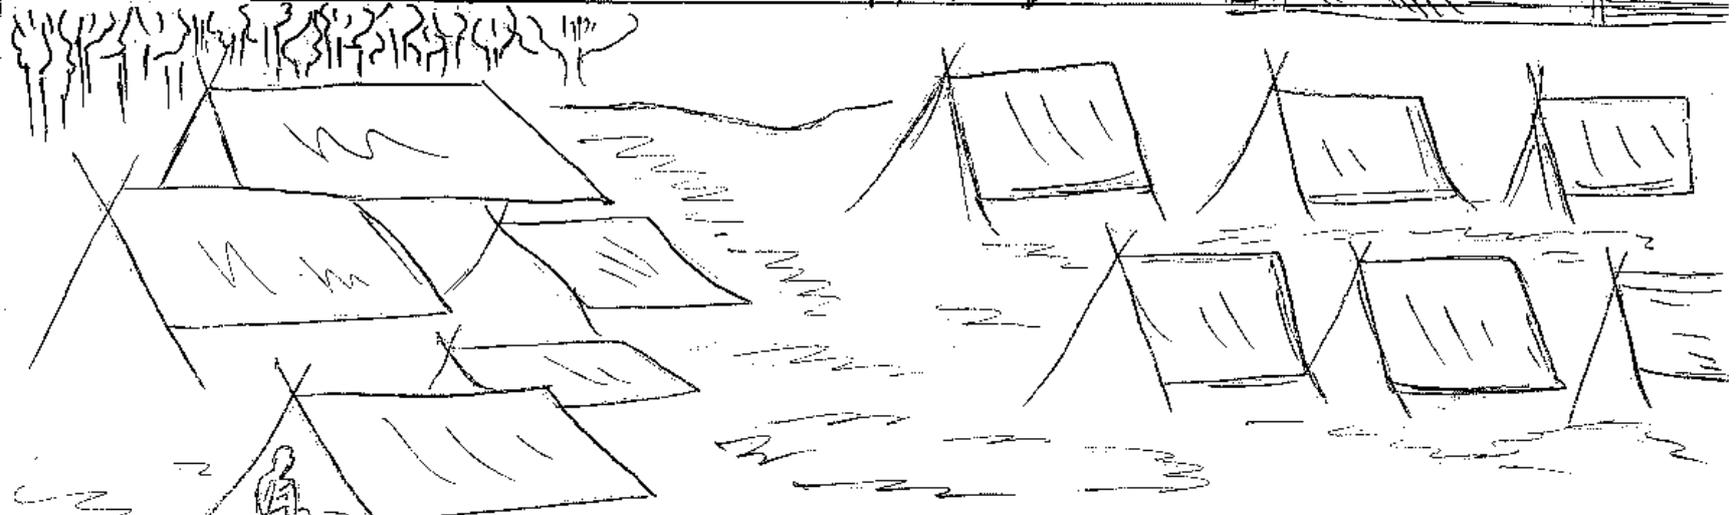

Sometimes the camps had flooding.

Sometimes there were fires.

I need some more water

Everyone get out of the house now!

The floods and fires would destroy the homes and families would have to live in tents. The U.N. or other organization would bring us supplies.

Lutheran World Federation helps to give families rice, oil, vegetables. People took turns going from hut to hut to announce the food had arrived.

Oh! So heavy

Oh! This is so heavy

Yeah, it is so heavy but food is so fresh.

Our School was made of bamboo had a thatched roof. We wore uniforms and braids with ribbons in our hair.

We sat on a carpeted floor and stayed in the same class. We learned different subjects. We would come to school on Saturdays to help repair the floor of the school with mud.

UNHCR

The U.N. has a meeting and announces that we can come to the U.S. if we want to.

First, my Cousin brother and sister moved to the U.S. After one or two years, we decided to go. My father let my sisters and I decide.

I'm willing to go, but I'm worried about what's going to happen.

America!!!

Wow, America!!

If you guys decided to go to America you can go, but I and your mother haven't decided to resettle in America. It doesn't mean that we are not going to come, we need time to decide.

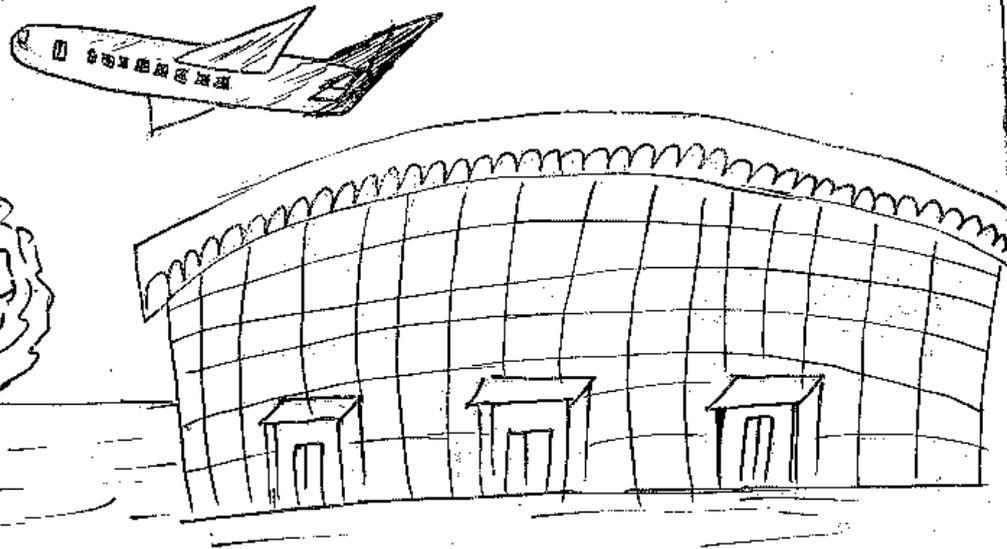

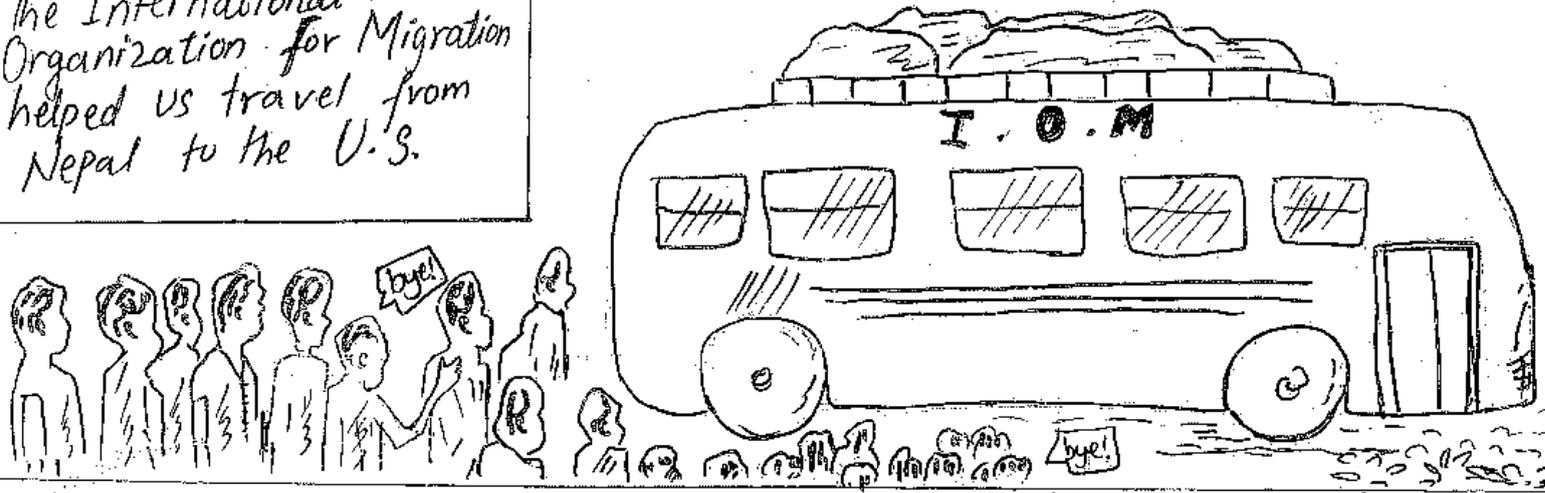

Mom, dad we wanted to move to America. We want that our children's future will be bright and happy. So, I want my children should decide to move to America but, not to other country.

We had to do several different things to come to the U.S. including take a photo, fill out paperwork, take a class about how to live in America. They posted on a notice board when we had been approved to go.

The International Organization for Migration helped us travel from Nepal to the U.S.

We traveled for two and a half days and come to S.L.C., Utah. I felt nervous to be in America, I had to learn English and things are very different here.
